Don Jones Presents

"Snow White & the Eighth Dwarf: A Potted Panto"

This classic fairy tale is re-told to include the time Snow White spent with the mysterious eighth dwarf and this play focuses on the three main characters:

The Narrator who sets the scene by re-telling a story which is "slightly different" to the story we all know about Snow White, the wicked Queen and there is some funny business with the magic mirror.

Snow White, our heroine, who is lost in the forest encounters the shunned eighth dwarf, Lofty.

Lofty, the Eighth Dwarf, who Snow White remarks is "rather tall for a dwarf". He and Snow White become friends and organise a party for which they cater, with magical results.

As in all fairy stories, there is a Happy Ending.

The performance includes audience participation and the intrinsic musical accompaniment is provided by the company.

Your children and students will enjoy taking part in this dramatic presentation of a "fractured fairy tale".
